(3) Genl Abram TenBroeck (4)—was said to have command though not present at Fort Ann—and continued in service there two months. In July 1777 was again at Fort Ann under Capt. Henry Tinker (5) and a Captain Jacob Defreest (6) was there also—and same colonel and major as in 1776 and served then about one month. And during the rest of the year 1777 for about ten months was out constantly as a scout and minute man for almost every day—So much so that though a blacksmith by trade he never lighted his fires for the whole ten months. In 1778 went to Schoharie at CobleKill (7) at time Butler & Indians were destroying the inhabitants and served from three to five weeks. In 1779 was at Fort Hunter as a soldier again for one month—on the Schoharie Creek—this deponent stood as a minute man during the war and never to his recollection refused to go when called upon which was very often as he lived in the neighborhood where the excursions of the Indians were very frequent—and Tories very troublesome. His whole service would exceed Three Years—he has no witness to prove his services except his wife and refers to annexed affidavits of his neighbors.

He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the pension roll of the agency of any state. (Signed with his mark) Henry Paddock.

Sworn to and subscribed the day and year aforesaid. [?] Stoddard
